

SLS and UCL battle it out on the quiz floor!

In this ultimate quiz challenge, 7 enthusiastic teams took to their tables and put their heads together – closely so as not to tempt eavesdroppers! The night was hosted by SLS Territory Sales Manager, Nicola Brick, and tickets cost just £1 which went straight into the prize fund.

This was the second quiz night hosted by Nicola and it was attended by 6 competitive teams from UCL as well as a team from SLS. The evening followed an extensive exhibition for staff at UCL which included demonstrations of a wide range of products from suppliers such as BD, Sigma and Gilson.

Nicola says “UCL are my largest account and this quiz night was a great opportunity for UCL and SLS staff to meet in a social setting. Kay Tott, Finance Manager at UCL, was fantastic as ever and helped us with all the arrangements including internal advertising of the event.”

SLS sponsored nibbles, wine and beer on the evening which helped to deliver an entertaining and social event. UCL scientists from both the Cancer Institute and WIBR attended the evening at the Wolfson Institute.

Kay Tott said “The snacks and drinks provided by our sponsors SLS were very well received and the evening was a great success. The quiz was hotly contested, with those in attendance wanting more, thank you SLS!”