

Thermo Fisher Scientific Awards SLS

We are delighted to announce that we have been recognised by Thermo Fisher Scientific with 'Best Laboratory Consumables Award 2014'. This accolade is given annually to the Independent Channel Partner in Europe who has shown the best growth for our consumables business, along with demonstrating the highest level of engagement with the Thermo Fisher organisation.

Ursula Middlemore

Director - Independent Channel Partners, Laboratory Products Group – Europe commenting on giving SLS the award:

'This year, we were happy to award Scientific Laboratory Supplies, with the award for 'Best Independent Channel Partner, Laboratory Consumables, Europe'. SLS has continued to actively promote our consumables range, offering us the highest level of engagement from their sales, product management and marketing departments. We look forward to another year of their continued success'.

The Thermo Fisher Scientific range of consumables covers a wide range of products from cell culture plastics and other life Science disposables to pipettors and tips, filtration and sample collection and storage.

On receiving the award Ian Roulstone, Sales & Marketing Director, SLS, commented: 'We have seen our sales of the Thermo Fisher consumables product range increase at a fantastic rate over the last 3 years. This has been down to the great team effort between Thermo Fisher people and our sales and marketing teams. By working very closely together we have become the UK's No.1 choice for Thermo Fisher consumables'
